Concert Saloon Keeper Meyer Says It Was Blackmail Paid for a Paverable Report to the Mayer-Only $5-$5,000 Ball. Bertrandt Meyer's concert saloon at 163 Chrystle street is one of the few music and beer places licensed by the Mayor. Complaint was made at the Mayor's office recently that the saloon was becoming a rendezvous for disreputable persons, and the Mayor asked Capt, Eakins of the City Hall Police to investigate. The Captain put Policeman Theodore Miller on the case. On Thursday evening Miller en-tered the saloon in plain clothes and remained about half an hour. The next evening he went to the saloon again.

On Saturday Meyer told Jerome L. Renner, a policeman attached to Superintendent Murray's office, that somebody pretending to be a policeman was trying to blackmail him. Under orders of Superintendent Murray, Renner went to Meyer's on Monday evening, when Miller had agreed to call again, and gave Meyer $5 in bills, which Superintendent Murray had marked. Meyer was to give them to the blackmaller. Miller came in about 914 P. M. Moyer sat down by him and talked with him, and then Miller went out. Renner followed him and arrested him, and found the marked money in his trousers pocket.

Miller was taken before the Superintendent, who suspended him and put him in a cell at Headquarters.

At Jefferson Market Court yesterday morn-At Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning Meyer did not make out a very strong case. From what he said it seemed as if the money might have been tucked in Miller's pocket by Mayer without the policeman's consent. Renner's story, however, had a decidedly different color, and the Justice ordered both withesses to reduce their statements to writing, and to appear ngain in the afternoon. At 4 o'clock, therefore, Miller stood up before the bar and listened to the reading of the affidavits. He is a tall, dark man, with an intelligent-looking face and a slender black moustache.

Meyer's affidavit related that Miller introduced himself on Friday evening last as a policeman sent to report on a complaint made to the Mayor, and said that he should report that the saloon was respectable. If anything should be wrong, he would let Meyer know about it, Meantime he assured Meyer that the saloon would not be visited on Saturday and Sunday.

On Monday evening when Miller came in he approached Meyer at once and they sat down at a table. After some talk Meyer passed the bills compressed into a wait to Miller, who took them and put them in his trousors pocket without looking at them. Then he asked how much money the wad contained, and when Meyer told him, he exclaimed:

"Ne! that is not enough. Five dollars is nothing. That will not do. Isn't it worth $25 for me to make a favorable report? This is not enough for the Captain."

Meyer told him that if he wanted any money for the Captain he must come again, and Miller left the saloon saying that he would do so.

Officer lienner's affidavit related the arrest, and added:

And when deponent took the defendant before Superintendent Murray the defendant told Superintendent ing Meyer did not make out a very strong case.

Officer Renner's affidavit related the arrest, and added:

And when deponent took the defendant before Superintendent Murray, in deponents presence and hearing that as Mr. Meyer had informed him that he had falely returned from Europe, and that he had made a number of presents, he, the defendant, thought that what keyer had given him was a present.

"Well, Miller," said Justice Gorman when the reading was finished, "that is a very different story from the one I heard this morning."

"I should think so, your Honor," replied Miller in a grieved voice.

The examination was set down for Tuesday. But was tixed at $5.000.

Miller turned up his eyebrows.

"That's a good deal, your Honor," he protested.

"That's a good deal, your Honor," he protested.

"It is too much," answered the Justice, "if you are innocent. If you are guilty, it is not enough."

A good-looking, well-dressed woman offered to go bail for Miller. She had with her the dead of a house worth $10,000, but the Justice refused to take her bond, saying that the margin was too narrow. The woman refused to give her name. Miller said he did not want to spend the night in a cell, and persuaded some relatives of his who were present to bestir themselves during the ovening and hunt up another boulsman.

Capt. Eaklies, who has had the City Hall po-themselves during the evening and hunt up another bondsman.

Capt, Eakins, who has had the City Hall po-lice only since January, says that Miller has had a good record during that time. He has been regularly on the police force since 1880, and also served to a short time in 1872. He has answered to only three complaints, and has been punished by no more than a fine of two days' pay.

RACKET IN THE ROTUNDA.

Custom House Brokers Burn Guspowder and Cheer for Harrison.

There was a great deal of jollity and some bitterness at the ante-Fourth of July celebration in the rotunda of the Custom House yesterday. From time immemorial the brokers and clerks, particularly the brokers, have celebrated the day before the glorious Fourth by setting off cannon crackers, cheering wildly for the Declaration of Independence, and singing "America" and other easy tunes. Under Collectors Arthur and Robertson the scenes were particularly hilarious, and on several ocand after cordially greeting them suggested that they be careful not to destroy Government and after cordially greeting them suggested that they be careful not to destroy Government property.

The brokers, or a majority of them, say they do not like Collector Magone. He is too strict to suit them, and has cut off many of their perquisites. With this feeling, actuating them they raised more of a racket than usual yesterday. The rorunds echoed the thunders of a bushel of cannon crackers, and the smoke from them was gently waited out of the Wall street ontrance. The brokers howied and shrieked, and were at the too notel of the excitement when ton night inspectors detailed by Deputy Surveyor G. O. F. Nicoll walked in to preserve order. The night inspectors were not to interfere with the celebration. They were there to see that the Government property was not destroyed, but the brokers were annoyed by their presence. They shrieked all the louder, but stopped the cannon cracker business, at least openly. Now and then an inspector would jump a couple of feet when a bomb placed surrentitiously back of his coat tails exploded. Collector Magone, it was soon learned, was at his home in Ogdensburgh. There was no disposition to bother Acting Collector McClelland, and the racket subsided. The celebration then took the peaceful method of marching around the marble tiled floor chanting for Ben Harrison. Many were not sincere in their cries, and said so, but also said that as they had been annoyed in their business by the administration of affairs in the Custom House, the time had come to play tit for tat.

Dying from a Beating.

Michael G. Fitzgerald, a house painter of 1,020 First avenue, visited the Coroners' office yesterday and asked to have a Coroner take the ante-mortem statement of his brother, William Fitzgerald, who is dying from softening of the brain at 1,026 Second ave dying from softening of the brain at 1,028 Second ave-mus. Michael and that William's alckness resulted from a beating given by his wife a brother. Thomas Keenan, on the night of Deo 12, 1887, at William's house. Wil-liam was found insensible the next morning, bleeding from four wounds in the head, and was sent to Believue Hospital, and afterward to the Ward's Island Insance Asylum. In January last he was brought home to die, and a day or two ago he told his attending physician. Dir. R. R. Duffy, that his wife and his mother had quar-relied, and that his wife's brother took up the cudgels in behalf of his wife and beat him.

Influence of the Declaration of Independence. Assistant District Attorney Hartman is a siender man, but taught a big buily in a Sixth avenue elevated railroad car a lesson on Monday evening. Mr Hartman was reading the Declaration of Independence. Hartman was reading the Declaration of Independence, because he has to read it to night at the Harlem Democratic Club, when his appearance in a frock roat seemed to incense the builty, who called him a dude, swore at him, and inaily lunged against him. Ar. Hartman turned on the builty, who raised his flat to strike. Mr. Hartman got in his blow brai, which sent the loafer to the floor. The passengers who had seen the provocation manifested their pleasure in various ways.

A policeman riding on the platform dragged the bully out at the Eighty-first street station, and Mr. Hartman resumed his reading of the Declaration of Independence.

Sergeants-David Seeley from East Sixtyseventh street to East Fifty first street. Robert Wallace from Morrisania to East Sixty-seventh street. Policeman Pairick O'Rellly from Leonard street to Delamoey street and detailed to special duty. The policeman to baths were transferred to the precincts in which the baths are. Michael Cronin of the Leonard street station resigned.

No Race Between Yale and Cambridge. Mr. Herman Oelrichs recently offered to pay the expenses of the Yule crew to England to row against the Cambridge crew. Mr. Osirichs said yesterday that the Yale men would be unable to acceed his offer, because the English could not at this season get a crew together to meet the Americans. The Cambridge men have their matches in the early spring, and they are now out of training and enjoying vacations.

Dan Dincen Escapes State Prison. Dan Dingen, the handsome young tough who chade Capt. Ryan's young son sing a song at the point of a pistol while returning from a picnic in Augustiast, and who was captured after a running pistol fight with policenses, was brought before Judge Gildersleve in the General Sessions yesterday for sentence. He was convioted of easents in the third degree on May 28 tasticles of the converse Gildersleve gave him a year in the penitentiary.

LIERIE SCHULTE AND HER LOVER. She Says Her Father Calls Her Bad Only Because She Loves Frank.

Lizzie Schultz, 16 'years old, stood crying before Justice Nacher yesterday while her father complained that she was a bad girl. Near her stood Frank Strader, 20 years old, re-straining tears from flowing from his eyes. Lizzle saw Frank, and, pointing to him, said to the Justice: "It's all because my father doesn't the Justice: "It's all because my father doesn't like him that he says I am a bad girl. Last Sunday, when I told him I was going to Rock away with a family in our neighborhood and with Frank he got mad, made me bundle up all my clothing and go from the house. I went to a relative. Monday I got work and was at work when the policeman came and told me you wanted me. I am not a bad girl."
"You don't look like one, but you must obey your father." said the Justice. When he asked it she had any witnesses to testify in her behalf she pointed to the young man Frank, and to a number of women seated in the rear of the court room. The Justice, however, would not hear their testimony, saying:
"I'll adjourn the examination with hopes that your trouble may be settled with your father."

Trying to Bribe Aldermon. CHICAGO, July 3.-Much excitement exists around the City Hall, growing out of rumors that some of the Aldermen have been approached in the interest of one of the elevated railroad companies which are is sliesed that agents have visited several of the City Fathers gand offered them backs of stock of the par value of $0.000 in exchange for a vote. There has been a mix in the diplomatic work as the agents in some cases have gone to the wrong persons, having been decreved by the similarity of names. Eugene A. Sitting is charged by Alderman Rix with having offered him $5.000 worth of stock for a vote.

Superintendent McKeever's Funeral. The funeral services of Superintendent Hugh McKesver of Post Office Station 8, Willoughby avenue and Broadway, Brooklyn, were held yesterday in the and Broadway, Erousiny, were neit yesterusy in the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, Wythe avenue, Williamsburgh. The Rev. Father Malone, pastor of the church, in his sermon said that he ned baptized and prepared the electical man for his first communion and for confirmation. He lived and died, he said, a good Christian. There were present at the services Postmatch Hendrix, the superintensients of all the Brooklyn substations and the inter-carriers of Fation S. After the services the body was removed to Greenwood.

Lea & Perrins' Sauce.

Lea & Perrins, the original and genuine Worcestershire Sauce, has been before the public over half a century. Like all popular favorites, it has long been the standard of comparison and the pattern for counterfeiters, who not being able to imitate its excellence, offer to the public, imitations in bottling, labels and style of putting up. They dare not counterfeit the signature of Lea & Perrins, which is on the red label of every genuine bottle, and of which this is a facsimile. Leaverins To be sure of obtaining the genuine
